

UPDATE: Mangione set to sign contract in Portugal

Pipeline is proud to announce that Marco Mangione is set to sign a professional contract with GD Tourizense of the Segunda Divisao in Portugal. Pipeline President Sean Rush organized Mangione's opportunity. After arranging a two-week trial where Mangione was seen by professional teams, agents, and coaches, he was offered a deal with the organization to stay for the remainder of the season. "This is a really exciting time for Marco as he is going to begin his career with a great team surrounded by the same agency/agents that assisted me through my playing years," said Sean Rush. Marco will be competing with GD Tourizense and looking to break into the first team over the coming weeks.

The team has 20 games to play in the final months of the season and possibilities of Marco making an impact on the team are good. "Marco is a talented player with big potential, we hope he will develop into a great professional player, he really impressed us during his first week of training," Said Pedro Goncalves of Sport Consult Portugal Agency.
