

Pipeline Visits Indian Creek School Near Annapolis

February 22, 2012

President Sean Rush, Vice President Santino Quaranta, and Annapolis Head of Operations Devin Barclay were on hand Wednesday, February 22nd at Indian Creek School near Annapolis to run a free clinic. They were there to demonstrate to hundreds of elementary school students the "Pipeline Way". Indian Creek School will play host to Pipeline's first ever Annapolis Academy this spring. Annapolis Head of Operations, Devin Barclay, an Indian Creek Alum and Director of Coaching of the Baltimore Academy, Phil Greatwich, were also on hand. The fun filled event offered demonstrations of soccer skills, challenges and competitions.

"From day one, Santino and I have wanted to be hands-on during every step that Pipeline takes. Devin has done an unbelievable job, in only two months, of establishing Pipeline in the Annapolis area. The Annapolis Academy has almost sold out in less than a month from its announcement. We are so excited for the first day of the Academy and if the smiling faces of the kids today are any indication it will be a huge success".

"Getting to go back to the school that I went to from Pre-K-- 8th grade to do a free clinic for the kids was rewarding on so many levels. I remember playing soccer on those fields before school, after school and during recess. It's the single most important thing in my life, and I want the kids at ICS to have the opportunity to experience Santino, Sean and myself and our passion and love for the sport. Every player had a smile on there face, and to us that's very encouraging!" said Head of Annapolis Operations Devin Barclay.

The Pipeline Annapolis Academy will begin Monday March 12th. For more information please visit <http://pipelinesoccerclub.com/academyannapolis.html>
